6. Ernakulam Branch of the bank had extended a Term Loan and a Cash credit of Rs. 25.00 lakhs each against mortgage of property. Due to defaults in loan repayments, the bank had initiated securitisation procedure under SARFAESI Act for recovery of the loan amount against the borrower and the bank had sold the property by way of auction and closed the loans with the proceeds. The borrower had filed a petition in DRT against the action of the bank and obtained decree in favour of him. As per the order of DRT dated 24-05-2016, the entire auction procedure was nullified and ordered to refund the sale amount of Rs. 61.65 lakhs to the purchaser with 9.00% interest p.a. However, the purchaser has declined to accept the amount with 9.00% interest as ordered by the DRT, raised a demand of Rs. 40.00 lakhs, claiming a higher rate of interest, which he had incurred on the amount raised for the purchase and also to cover the cost of registration.

Based on the legal opinion received from bank's panel advocate, the bank decided not to go for an appeal to the appellate tribunal against the order of DRT but to move forward with the auction procedure of the property as envisaged in Rule 5 (C) of the Security Interest (Enforcement) Rules.

The security with the bank was valued for Rs. 164.22 lakhs as per the bank valuation dated 30.07.2010 and as the bank is confident of recovering the loan amount together with interest and other charges by disposing the property, no provision is made in the books but shown as a contingent liability.
